(i) A full or partial certificate of compliance, where the department has evaluated the site and determined that the site, or the applicable portion thereof, is in compliance with applicable law.

(ii) A report of environmental noncompliance, where the department determines that one or more environmental media at the site contain contamination exceeding applicable law. A report of environmental noncompliance shall describe with particularity each item of substantive noncompliance identified, the environmental media affected, the analytical data supporting each finding, and the corrective actions required to achieve compliance. Upon issuance of a report of environmental noncompliance, the corrective action period shall commence in accordance with Subsection D of this Section.

(iii) A notice of administrative deficiency, where the department determines that the site does not present contamination of environmental media above applicable regulatory standards, but that one or more administrative, operational, or recordkeeping requirements under applicable law have not been satisfied. A notice of administrative deficiency shall not constitute a report of noncompliance for purposes of this Section, shall not trigger the corrective action period under Subsection D of this Section, and shall not give rise to any inference or presumption of environmental liability with respect to the site. Administrative deficiencies identified in a notice pursuant to this Item shall be addressed through the department's regulatory and enforcement authority pursuant to this Subtitle and shall not affect the admissibility or preclusive effect of any certificate of compliance issued as to environmental conditions at the site.

(b) Notwithstanding any outstanding administrative deficiencies that may be addressed pursuant to Item (B)(8)(a)(ii) of this Section, where environmental sampling and testing conducted during the review period demonstrates that all sampled environmental media at the site meet the requirements of applicable law, the department shall at minimum issue a partial certificate of compliance as to the environmental conditions of those media. The existence of an outstanding notice of administrative deficiency shall not delay, condition, or preclude the issuance of such a certificate and the certificate shall carry the full preclusive effect described in Subsection C of this Section as to environmental damage and property damage claims relating to pre-certification conditions of those media.

(9) All data, information, communications, analyses, and documentation generated or exchanged between the requesting parties and the department during the evaluation process established by this Subsection, other than a certificate, partial certificate, and a final report of environmental noncompliance, shall be confidential, shall not be subject to the Public Records Law, R.S. 44:1 et seq., and shall not be disclosed, used as evidence, or otherwise relied upon in any judicial or administrative proceeding by a person other than a requesting party, the department, or any of their respective successors or assigns. (1) Notwithstanding any other provision of law to the contrary, a person who acquires a mineral lease, operating interest, or other right to conduct exploration and production activities at a site for which a certificate of compliance has been issued pursuant to this Section shall not, by virtue of that acquisition alone, become responsible for or assume any obligation with respect to environmental damage or property damage arising from pre-certification site conditions. Such acquisition shall not subject the acquiring party to liability in solido with any prior operator, lessee, or working interest owner for pre-certification conditions, nor shall it constitute a basis for proceeding against the acquiring party as the operator of record for pre-certification conditions. The acquiring party's regulatory and civil liability shall be limited to site conditions arising from its own operations conducted after the date of the certificate of compliance.

(2) A certificate of compliance issued pursuant to this Section constitutes conclusive documentation of the baseline environmental conditions at the site as of the date of certification. In any subsequent judicial or administrative proceeding, contamination or damage identified after the date of the certificate shall be presumed to constitute post-certification conditions and shall not be deemed indistinguishable from pre-certification conditions absent clear and convincing evidence to the contrary. This presumption shall apply in favor of any operator who acquires an interest in the site on or after the date of the certificate and against any claim seeking to hold that operator responsible for pre-certification conditions on the basis that post-certification and pre-certification damage cannot be distinguished.

(3) Nothing in this Subsection shall limit the liability of any person for environmental damage or property damage caused by that person's own post-certification operations, nor shall it limit the enforcement authority of the department or any other governmental entity with respect to post-certification site conditions. Nothing in this Subsection shall be construed to release any prior operator from liability to a subsequent operator or to the surface owner for pre-certification conditions."
